The interior of the Church of St. Peter is one of the most beautiful. On a sunny morning the light blue walls and darker blue recesses behind the altars, decorated with loving care make delightful contrast to the play of light from the windows on the white trim and pews. The very nautical lighting fixtures in polished brass add sparkle to the colorful effect, and a reminder that this is a church of the fishermen. Music from the balcony draws attention to an instrument very similar to that in the Universalist Church.
